

The ongoing troubles in your marriage or an intimate relationship may tone down a bit this Sunday by the helpful efforts of the members of your extended family. Financial worry could also be a reason for this short term cease fire. But, this relief will not last long and you must not make any emotional compromises on Sunday.

The fireworks begin again in your personal life on Monday and may continue till Tuesday night. These two days could be quite devastating for your personal life. Be extremely careful and do not use careless words. Better to not to react to any provocations from anyone. On Tuesday, a past act of cheating done by you may come out in open.

Wednesday may take you on a business trip to a pleasure spot. Your relations with your mother will get sweeter but her health may become a concern at the same time. A loan taken to buy a vehicle may start causing headaches to you, says Jyotish Biz. You may decide to sell the vehicle instead of bearing the stress attached with it.

Your spouse or beloved may get interested in the real estates you possess on Thursday and Friday. This interest will not be an innocent one. Be ready for some tricky interrogation sessions. You may be forced to give some rights to a property to your spouse, beloved or a business partner to avoid escalating the existing tumultuous situation in your relationships.

Your affection for your dependents and kids may increase this weekend and this may pacify your spouse too to some extent. A small get together with your parents and children is also possible this weekend.
