Saurabh Arya asks: My birth details are 19/08/83, 11:30am, Ghaziabad, U.P, India. Should I wear the gemstone Neelam? When will my job become stable and when will my career improve?

Astrologer Ashutosh: Mr Sourabh! Yes you can safely wear a Neelam. Just ensure that it is a very good quality Neelam (Blue Sapphire) and that you wear it before 20th February 2012.

You were born in a Libra (Tula) ascendant and a Sagittarius (Dhanu) moon sign. Saturn (Shani) is well placed in your horoscope in its sign of exaltation, Libra. And, it has entered this Uccha rashi on 15th November 2011 to stay there for next three years. So, to make the best use of these three years to enhance the growth in your profession, wear a good quality Neelam.

Your job will stabilize by the end of September 2012. But, you yourself will be motivated to change your job even after it offers good stability. So, you should develop more consistency in your work and try to stay in a job for at least four years. Next three years will give you a solid foundation on which the dream tower of your career will come up in later years. The main difference and progress will begin to be apparent from June 2012 onwards.

Some remedies besides wearing a Neelam:

- Keep fasts on Tuesdays. Avoid wearing Red colours when going to your office or when on official work.
- Avoid drinking alcohol when attending official parties or when partying with your co-workers.
